

Transition words

To show similarity

Additionally	Both	In the same way	Similar to
Again	Each of	Just like	Similarly
Also	Equally	Like	Too
And	Furthermore	Likewise
As well as	In addition

The Bride had cashmere, blue dress; similarly, Potter had bought a new watch; therefore, they both were modernizing. Consequently, they were the catalyst for change in the town, especially the Bride.

Note the semicolon takes the place of the period. The comma comes after the adverb.

To show difference

Although	Even though	Instead of	Though
But	Except	Nevertheless	Unlike
Conversely	However	On the other hand	Whereas
Despite	In contrast to	Otherwise	While
Different from	In spite of	Still	Yet

To show Emphasis

Above all	Finally	Most important	Most significant
Especially	Mainly	Most of all	Primarily

To show cause

Because	For	For this reason	Since	Due to
---------	-----	-----------------	-------	--------

To show effect

As a result	Hence	So (as a fanboy)	Therefore
Consequently	In (as a) consequence	Then	Thus