Name of Nominee: Cynthia Hamlett

Nominee Department/Area: Distance Education Lead

Please provide ALL of the following information about the person being nominated.

1. Outstanding service and contributions to the college community.

Cynthia has been serving as the Distance Education Lead and Chair of the Educational Technology Committee since Fall 2019.

Throughout this year, Cynthia has routinely gone above and beyond to work—not just with faculty at Crafton, but faculty at Valley and statewide—to ensure that our process for preparing faculty for online instruction is both respectful of their experience and time and robust enough to ensure they will be successful in their transition.

During this crisis of emergency remote instruction, Cynthia has busted out her superhero attire to repeatedly save the day. She has helped lead, organize, document, and schedule the training available to all faculty members on our campus so that we can move to remote instruction as seamlessly as possible.

She has done this not just because her position has DE Lead calls for it, but because she cares deeply for her colleagues and our students. As someone who has worked closely with her during this switch to remote training, it is clear that Cynthia's work is propelled by a compassionate desire to reduce faculty's mountainous stress and sheer terror so that we can lead successful remote classes for our students.

2. Outstanding support of student success.

Without Cynthia's support during this transition, we would not be as successful as we have been. She has positively impacted the success of students across our campus and continues to do so with updates, office hours, research, and training.

3. Any additional criteria deemed significant

Cynthia is a truly talented and generous gardener.
