1:00 p.m. - 2:15 p.m. Student-Centered & Accreditation-Ready: RSI Made Easy

Let's make Regular & Substantive Interaction (RSI) make sense. In this upbeat session, we'll translate federal, state, and ACCJC expectations into simple, manageable strategies you can start using right away. You'll learn why meaningful instructor-student interaction is at the heart of student success - and how a few intentional design choices can transform the online learning experience. You'll leave with a clear and realistic plan for aligning your course with the ACCJC pilot rubric ahead of accreditation review, along with time-saving

RSI strategies that make your teaching more efficient and interactions more meaningful. You'll gain a confident understanding of what actually counts as RSI (and what doesn't), and see how purposeful interaction can boost student engagement and retention in ways that feel authentic rather than performative.
