PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Ben Gamboa

The 2016-2017 academic year is off to a quick start, and there is a lot of change at Crafton Hills College. For starters, I would like to welcome President Wei Zhou to our campus.

Our first Classified Senate meeting of the year will be September 9, 2016 at 2 p.m. in CCR-233. Everyone is invited to attend.

Our first meeting agenda includes introductions of our new officers and senators, establishing goals for the Senate to work toward this year, and discussing ideas to improve the impact classified professionals have on the direction of the college.

All permanent classified and confidential staff at Crafton Hills are automatic voting members, and short-term and substitute classified staff are associate members. Keep in mind that the Classified Senate is a dues-free organization.

On that note, have you seen the JoJo's Grill-A-Dog food truck on campus? The owner of JoJo's graduated from Crafton Hills, credits classified professionals with getting him through college, and wants to give back.

JoJo's Grill-A-Dog helps keep our Senate running by donating a portion of their proceeds to Classified Senate.

It's a great way to raise (delicious) money, so our Senate can focus on important tasks such as college governance and professional development.

Lastly, Crafton Hills College needs two new classified representatives on District Assembly.

Have you ever read a district policy or procedure and thought, "Why didn't anyone ask me for my input to write this?!" Well, the District Assembly is for you.

District Assembly meets the first Tuesday each month, and the first meeting is coming up next week. Don't worry; you'll have me there by your side to help guide you through the responsibilities.

Contact any senate officer or senator if you're interested in serving on District Assembly.
